

We support foreign company owners, managers and individuals in protecting their rights and interests at times we are needed the most: when a foreigner faces a private dispute in China. A team consisting of a foreign manager and a Chinese legal expert will advise, assist and represent you towards third parties such as the police, courts, local government, and Chinese individuals. Your faith is in good hands with us.

- Detention: In the unfortunate event that you end up in (temporary) detention at a local police station, you will need reliable counsel to inform you on the situation and your rights. We will be there for you as soon as possible. Our emergency contact can be reached by phone or text message.
- Criminal investigations: If you are a suspect of an act that could lead to a criminal investigation, there may well be an opportunity to solve the underlying dispute first, resulting in a settlement of the case and suspension of the investigation. We will assist and represent you, to reach an acceptable solution and to avoid further escalation.
